THE BRAND NEW KRASH.COM.AU!

Have you been to Krash.com.au lately? If you have you will have noticed that it's brand new, completely awesome and full of way more cool stuff than our old website! Take a look at all the awesomeness and, more importantly, tell your friends!

Hey Krash Headz. Welcome to the March issue, where we're about to give away stax of consoles! PS3s, DSis, Xbox 360 - you name it! With big gaming announcements coming soon (like maybe a Wii2?) as well the arrival of the Nintendo 3DS soon, now is the time to get your hands on a console and go game crazy! Besides the usual 20 page GameSta mag, we also start to get excited about WrestleMania XXVII, preview the new NRL and AFL seasons, check out a new skate trick, look at some awesome new world records and heaps, heaps more! Don't forget the awesome Freak Out section too, as well as Krash Klash (where, this month, we put Generator Rex in our virtual wrestling ring with Rey Mysterio), puzzles newz and more. Of course, there also the coolest komix in the world, Spider-Man and Iron Man. This mag is so packed it's crazy. Here's hoping you can get through it all in a month, 'cause that's when the next issue comes out! Catchya then!

Ash (freakin) Krash

SPEAK UP

Hurry up Krash Heads! Send us your best emails and drawings NOW! We love getting drawings from you guys. We always do our best to publish as many as possible! Shoot 'em through to krash@nuclear.com.au or write us a letter to PO Box 1382, Bondi Jn NSW 1355.

LETTER OF THE MONTH

Hey Krash.

Your mag is so cool. I like your GameSta section. It's got some cool stuff in there and I hope you keep up the good work. Freak Out is so mad. You guys are the best!

Joe, 9, NSW.

Sup Krash, I love your magazine because it's great and gnarly. Well it's just AWESOME. I love WWE. My fav wrestlers are HHH, HBK and Kofi Kingston. Lawrence.

Yo zup Krash, your mags are wag. It's so cool you guys are the best. My fave wrestlers are Rey Mysterio, John Cena and Batista. Who's yours? Bye. P.S. Your mags are amazing. Mano.

Gee your mags are so cool guys. U rock. Your mags rock. My fave part of Krash is WWE. My fave wrestlers are Rey Mysterio, Cena and Animal. Sahan.

Hi Krash, it's your number one fan. Krash is the best magazine ever!!! My favourite sections are Shame Shack, Rib Ticklers, Cruise Control and WWE. I love WWE. My favourite WWE stars are Rey Mysterio, Batista, John Cena and Jeff Hardy. You guys are awesome. From your number 1 fan Matt. P.S. Joke Q: Did you hear about the restaurant on the moon? A: The food is great but there's no atmosphere! Charlie.

Hi Krash, I love your mags, and the most fun part is entering the comps. I like the Iron Man komix and I love the movie Iron Man 2. I hope you like my picture. Your #1. Kylan, 9, QLD.

Hey Krash, people think I'm weird because I'm a girl and I do boy stuff. I usually get Scooby Doo magazines but we couldn't find them. Then I saw Krash so I bought it, AND I LOVE IT! I also want to say to all of the other Krash heads out there... ROCK ON! Amy.

Hey Krash, I love your mag. It's way better than others. The parts I like the most are Shame Shack, Rib Ticklers, Cruise Control and WWE. I love WWE. My favourite WWE stars are Rey Mysterio, Batista, John Cena and Jeff Hardy. You guys are awesome. From your number 1 fan Matt. P.S. Joke Q: Did you hear about the restaurant on the moon? A: The food is great but there's no atmosphere! Matt.

IRONMAN?

WASSUP Krash!!!!?

I'm a newbie to Krash but I know that it rls! I am going to collect your magazines for years and years until I'm at least 56. My favourite parts are Shame Shack, Speak Up, Rib Ticklers, Komix, Krash Klash and Freak out. Can you please put more Komix in your mags? P.S. Krash roks.

Ronin.

Sup Krash? U'r mag is the bomb. I only have 2 issues but they are awesome. Anyway, do you have any cheats for God of War 2? U'r number 1 fan. Alex

Hi Krash I love your mag and all your prizes and I drew this picture of Iron Man because Iron Man is the awesomest superhero ever. Tom, 9, QLD

Krash is the best mag ever. I love Speak Up, Krash Klash and GameSta. If this got printed in your mag I would be so happy. And the things you put on Krash Test are all in my Christmas list. See ya soon, from your biggest fan. Will.

Hey Krash my name is Khai. Your mag is totally rad. My fav part is the WWE. My fav superstars are Christian, Jericho, Undertaker, Jeff, Matt, Rey, Morrison, Edge, Randy Orton, Bourn, Ryder, Miz, the whole Hart family, Drew McIntyre and more. My fav tags are the Hart Dynasty, DX and The Nexus, I don't like Batista, Sheamus, Jack Swagger, or CM Punk. By the way, I'm 12 and live in WA. Khai

Sup Krash Heads?

How's it going? I must say your mag is pretty awesome! I'm a new reader and I'm proud to say it! GameSta is my favourite part 'cos I play lots of games. I love the Naruto series and my fave character is Kiba. I also play drums and have a band with my best friend. Peace out.

Jacob, WA.

Hi Krash my name is Daniel. I think your mag rocks. WWE is awesome and so is How To Train Your Dragon. I hope you like my picture.

Daniel, 7, NSW.

A MONSTER FIND OF CRAZY NEWS STORIES.

HOME AMONGST THE TREE TOPS

A farmer in China has developed his very own home at the top of a 15 metre tree. Xiong Yuhu, inspired by the Bird's Nest Olympic Stadium in Beijing, described it as "a bird's nest on the ground. I just thought why not build a real bird's nest in a tree." Costing almost five thousand dollars so far, Xiong's tree house sits in the branches of a jujube tree and connects to the ground via a wooden staircase. Complete with a kitchen, lounge and television, the tree house even has a bathroom featuring a toilet and shower which are supplied with water from a tank on the roof! According to Xiong, his new home is extremely safe and has previously held 18 adult guests at one time. However, there is one problem for Xiong - his wife is afraid of heights and refuses to live with him! Even so, the tree house dweller hasn't finished, with plans to "build a terrace outside the door... I'll set up a board with soil, planting some vegetables. And I also need to have some inner decorations." We wonder how Xiong's wife feels about the extra renovations!

OLDEST FACEBOOK USER

An English grandmother is believed to be the world's oldest Facebook user at age 104! Technology savvy grandmother, Lillian Lowe, keeps up to date with her family, online friends, seven grandchildren and 13 great-grandchildren through her Facebook account. Lillian, from Pembrokeshire in the United Kingdom, isn't fazed by any of her grandchildren's partying ways and said "I have seen a few things over the years, so nothing really shocks me these days anyway. I can recommend it for any grandparents to keep in touch with their family." Lillian revels that she logs onto the popular social network several times a week and is keen to invest in her own iPad. Like many people who consider Facebook a waste of time, Lillian admitted "I'm sure there are lots of other things I should be doing rather than playing on a computer." Go Grandma!

NOT VERY MICE

An English woman was shocked after she witnessed live baby mice fall from multipacks of chips at a Birmingham supermarket. Liz Wray, a health inspector, explained the ordeal "made me feel revolting... I'm not sure if they were inside the supermarket or if they were just in among the packets." Wray recalled being at the supermarket with a work colleague who reached for the chips and began to scream as the baby mice tumbled off the shelf. After speaking to the store manager, Liz alleged she was informed the store was in the vicinity of a canal and railway line so mice are often found in the store but there was little that could be done. Instead of closing the supermarket, workers placed a box over the rodents and called a local pest control company. One supermarket spokesperson claimed it was an isolated incident that was an "upsetting discovery for our customer." The cleanliness of our stores is a priority for all our staff and there is a clear protocol on how they should deal with this kind of issue." Ewwww...

IPOD CASE CAREER

A clever designer in America has created a new career by transforming vintage suitcases into portable speakers for iPods. Dominic Odbert from Missouri has invented 'BoomCases' after collecting old suitcases from antique stores and fitting them with speakers which pump out around 400 watts of sound. With his creation costing around $700 each, Odbert has postponed his visual arts course at university so he can focus on selling the popular cases full-time. Each BoomCase has its "own set of acoustic characteristics" and are unique with Odbert spending two days to develop the product and an additional two days to test and eliminate any unwanted rattling. The speakers are fitted into holes on the outside of the case followed by the batteries and wiring carefully placed inside to keep everything balanced. Odbert stated "Customers are usually blown away because the cases sound awesome, last longer than an iPod and are easy to carry around."

SUPER-POWERED PLAYSTATION

The United States Department of Defence has revealed its fastest interactive computer which consists of 1,760 Playstation 3 consoles. The super-computer will be used for quickly processing high resolution satellite images, radar enhancement and research into artificial intelligence and has been named the Condor Cluster. The selection of Playstation consoles was justified as they offer maximum computing power at a low price with each console costing approximately $380 at the time, whereas, other equivalent technology would have cost an estimated $6,500 per unit! Director of the US Air Force Research Laboratory High Power Computing, Mark Barnell, said the "capability exceeds any other interactive super-computer currently used by the Department of Defence." The Condor Cluster also consumes less than one-tenth the power of similar super-computers which means the Playstation project is also a "green" super-computer. Sweet!

STUFFED MICROBES

Move over cute and cuddly teddy bears, a new wave of toys is spreading like the common cold. In 2001, designer, Drew Oliver introduced a series of stuffed micro-organisms, bacteria and viruses produced by his Stamford-based company, Giant Microbes which have increased in popularity over the years. Rather than giving someone a cute fluffy animal, you can share the love with a giant germ, cuddly E.Coli or hug-worthy heartworm! Oliver revealed all of the toys are true to the microbes they represent, from measles and diarrhoea to malaria and bed bugs, except for their eyes, emphasised colour and being one million times their actual size. After being on the market for a number of years, Oliver has introduced a number of new additions to the stuffed microbe collection and anticipates they will help children understand various illnesses.

SUNNIES FOR CHOOKS

A free-range farm in China has created a collection of sunglasses for their chickens in order to reduce the amount of fights breaking out between rival roosters. Farm owner, Jiang Hau explained because the chickens wander around the farm openly, it is inevitable they will "start picking fights with each other." Now, the aggressive chooks have been issued plastic John-Lennon style sunnies meaning "they can't see each other so clearly so they are much quieter and much more peaceful" adds Jiang. If the sunglass wearing experiment proves successful and there are less injuries amongst the chooks, other farmers in the south west China region of Chengdu, will consider treating their chickens to the new look as well!

MINIATURE MINI

A retired mechanic in New Zealand has spent three months making his already tiny Mini car even smaller so it can fit in the hold of his motor home. In 1988, 67-year-old, Lester Atherfold, purchased the 1964 Mini 850 for approximately $300 and has since spent under $150 on its transformation. To reduce the size of the 1100cc Mini, Lester has sliced just over 60 centimetres from the middle, narrowed the chassis and installed a new transmission, sub-frame, dashboard and clutch. Lester's car alterations have reduced the vehicle by almost one metre with the car converter claiming "it gives us total freedom from the motor home when we are away on holiday. The Mini was the only car in the world that would fit... all the others were too big and tall." We have to wonder if there is any other car that could fit under your bed!

LOVELY LAVATORY LOCATIONS

Author, Luke Barclay has searched the world to compose an extensive guide of the greatest views that can be experienced from sitting on a toilet. With his title of "chief loo hunter", Barclay travelled to exotic and remote locations including Africa, Mount Sinai in Egypt and Lake Titicaca, situated between Peru and Bolivia. Barclay revealed "the toilet can't just be in a great location, you actually have to have a window so that you can see the view while doing your business." Barclay's most recent book 'Good Loo Hunting' is the follow up to his first book 'Loos with Views' which he published two years ago. In pursuit of the perfect dunny destination, Barclay's book also features some spectacular snaps of toilets around Europe, South America as well as loos on snow covered mountains, in sunny national parks and even on African rivers where elephants cross!

SHARKS SEND SMS

A selection of Adelaide's coasts has been fitted with electronic receivers which enable lifesavers in the area to caution swimmers of approaching sharks. Bronze whalers and other sharks have been tagged with transmitters that will trigger the receivers and send a text message to the lifesavers. Dr Charlie Huveneers, a shark ecologist, revealed once the shark is caught, the transmitter is inserted surgically and then released but "when the sharks do reach a certain size... we've got a tendency to tag them externally when they're swimming past the boat."

The tagged sharks then have to swim within 800 metres of the transmitter in order for the text message to be triggered which will communicate the location, date and time of the nearby shark. The trial is based on a similar system previously used in Western Australia.

GENERATOR REX

STATUS

15-year-old boy under the care of Province – an organisation contracted to fight mutant creatures known as E.V.O.s (Exponentially Variegated Organism) – and Rex is their ultimate weapon!

STYLE

Rex lives like a super-powered rock star. He's the coolest of the cool. Just check out his sick, red, leather jacket and styling, geometrical pants.

PERSONALITY

for adventure. He most definitely digs the spotlight as Providence's weapon of choice!

FRANCHISE

Holiday and Noah, a regular kid and Rex's buddy.

ENEMIES

There's Bobo, his highly intelligent monkey sidekick, his mentor Agent Six, the sixth deadliest man in the world; the brilliant Dr.

SKILLS

Holiday and Noah, a regular kid and Rex's buddy.

Rex's greatest threat is an E.V.O. named Van Kleiss, along with minions called The Pack. Kleiss has power over all nature within his kingdom – The trees bend to him as he walks by and he can move through the air and water.

STILLS

Rex is an E.V.O. who can create amazing mechanical limbs and gadgets that aid him in battle – but also heal E.V.O.s of their mutation. He can make his fists the size of boulders, with just a thought a jet pack sprouts from his back and he can turn his legs into a lightning-fast motorcycle.

Checkout Generator Rex only on Cartoon Network. See www.cartoonnetwork.com.au for more details.

FINAL STATS

Status: Rex is the ultimate weapon... yeah!

Style: Rex is a sharp, but Rex does style!

Personality: Rex is cool, but Rex is a brat. Wish that kid would give me a call some time. What a mate!

Friends: Rex takes this one out for a walk. Not only are his mates weird... they don't sound like the kind of friends that'll ditch him.

Enemies: Wrestlers are cool... but... Van Kleiss... don't want a bar of him!

Skills: No comp here... Rex's skills are nuts – we want them now!

REY MYSTERIO

STATUS:

World Wrestling champ!
Heavyweight, Royal Rumble,
Cruiserweight, Tag Team... He's won them all.

SIZE:

He's 5 foot 6, 175 pounds and does his wrestling thing with a bare, tattooed chest and a colourful mask that only reveals his mouth and eyes (and of course matches his pants). Rey is known for his highflying, luchador style... Yeah boy!

PERSONALITY:

Out of the ring he's a down to earth, fun-loving and friendly bloke, but put him in the ring and he's a machine – nothing can stop him. For Mysterio it's all about speed and agility.

TEAMMATES:

Who wouldn't want to tag team with these wrestling champs? Edge, Rob Van Dam, Batista, Randy Orton... All Mysterio's mates... or are they?

ENEMIES:

Mysterio has boldly taken on many super talented wrestling guns over the years including Kane, Big Show, The Great Khali, Guerrero, Chris Jericho and Kurt Angle.

SKILLS:

From his awe-inspiring West Coast Pop to his trademark 619, Mysterio is wrestling in it's finest form. Just check out the Air Mysterio – he does a scissor kick to the head, with the assistance of a steel chair, and then pins his opponent to the ground in a double-leg cradle – you'll be in awe!

SOLAR CONCEPTS

THE 10
SICKEST
SOLAR
CARS FOR 2011!

While plug-in electric cars get all the hype, let's not forget their hot cousin - cars that power themselves using solar generated electricity! Put on your shades and check out this sizzling list:

YEE

The Yee concept is capable of transforming into a flying machine instantly! Simply by upturning the front wheels sideways and rear wheels to the outside back, you can escape a hectic traffic jam! It is powered by solar panels spread over its roof.

TOUCHDOWN

The completely zero emissions Touch Down runs on batteries charged by solar or wind power plants. The rear is equipped with a battery tank which contains a total of six high-capacity batteries that can be removed and recharged independently!

NISSAN IV

The Nissan IV super-lightweight concept car will be made from an innovative photovoltaic material that will be 30 percent lighter than glass. The solar generators power a set of big batteries that give a range of 200 km!

H2O

The H2O is a super-efficient vehicle that absorbs solar energy on the move and uses it to split water into hydrogen and oxygen. Hydrogen generated by the onboard system is used to power it along, giving a truly green ride!

YEZ

The Yez concept vehicle features solar panels on the roof and small wind turbines that are located in the wheels! The vehicle also includes a very clever system that captures carbon dioxide from the atmosphere and releases fresh oxygen!

SOLAR COCO

Called Solar Coco, this zero-emission concept electric vehicle features a compact, round-shaped surface that includes endless solar panels! The onboard photovoltaic panels not only power the car on the move, but also recharge onboard batteries when the vehicle is parked!

MO-DU-LO

The 'Mo-Du-Lo' concept can be operated in three different versions to suit individual needs of the driver! It is powered by electric batteries, which are juiced up by energy-generated roof-mounted solar panels!

02

The 02 is a concept car that relies on solar energy and atmospheric carbon dioxide for major boost! The roof of the concept car is covered with photovoltaic panels that generate electricity on the move. This thinking vehicle will add oxygen into the environment!

FLUXION TRANSPORT

The Fluxion Transport is powered by magnetic flux ion engines in each of the four wheels which generate about 200kW of power, and can propel the vehicle to a top speed of 500 km/h! Power to the vehicle's propulsion system is provided by the onboard solar skin body.

GREEN CAB

The Green Cab solar concept aims to reduce pollution levels on busy streets. The electric batteries onboard can be recharged by many solar panels and motion energy generators which grab energy bursts from the wheels!

WRESTLEMANIA

XXVII

Woo hoo! The countdown is on for WWE's 27th annual WrestleMania on April 3 at the Georgia Dome in Atlanta. So how well do you remember WrestleMania 26?

What's On The Cards?

Word is, the top

match on the RAW side will be The Miz defending his WWE Championship against John Cena, while SmackDown will see the Taker defend his streak against Wade Barrett. Could Taker finally lose? Who else will battle it out is still up in the air, but here's our dream card: Rey Mysterio Vs Jack Swagger, Kane Vs Sheamus, Triple H Vs Shawn Michaels, Big Show Vs Kane, The Miz Vs Evan Bourne, CM Punk Vs Jeff Hardy, Melina Vs Beth Phoenix Vs Gail Kim.

1. IN THE WRESTLEMANIA 26 UNIFIED TAG TEAM TITLES:

- a) Miz tagged Big Show in without Morrison seeing it and Big Show hit Morrison with the knockout punch.
- b) R-Truth came out rapping an Eminem song.
- c) Morrison went to work on the Miz in the ring, going for the Skull Crushing Finale, but the Miz reversed it.

2. IN THE WRESTLEMANIA 26 TRIPLE THREAT MATCH:

- a) DiBiase came out first to the Legacy theme song.
- b) A dropkick from Orton to DiBiase was the start of a two-man beat down of DiBiase.
- c) Rhodes did his Bam-Bam from the Flintstones routine waiting for Orton to get up.

3. THE WINNER OF THE WRESTLEMANIA 26 MONEY IN THE BANK LADDER MATCH WAS:

- a) Kane
- b) Christian
- c) Swagger

4. IN THE TRIPLE H VS SHEAMUS MATCH:

- a) Sheamus yelled in HHH's face that he's the future.
- b) Sheamus hit his Big Boot Kick on HHH, who couldn't kick out of it.
- c) Triple H yelled in Sheamus' face that he's the past.

5. IN THE CM PUNK VS REY MYSTERIO MATCH:

- a) Mysterio came out in Avatar-themed mask/ring gear.
- b) Punk won with a Facebuster to Mysterio on the ringside steps.
- c) Mysterio lost and had to join the Straight Edge Society.

6. IN THE NO HOLDS BARRED MATCH:

- a) Bret Hart had paid off Vince McMahon's entire family to help him win the match, but the family double-crossed him and supported Vince.
- b) McMahon had paid off Hart's family to help him win the match, but the family double-crossed him.
- c) Hart beat on Vince with a screwdriver.

7. IN THE WORLD TITLE MATCH:

- a) Jericho tried hitting Edge with his own Spear and Edge freaked out and ran out of the ring.
- b) Jericho couldn't get Edge in his Walls of Jericho.
- c) The ref got bumped and Jericho used that free time to blast Edge with the title belt to the face.

8. IN THE 10-DIVA TAG MATCH:

- a) Layla and Alicia Fox started things off.
- b) Michelle McCool interfered and hit her finisher on Beth Phoenix.
- c) Vickie Guerrero screamed in Kelly Kelly's face, but Kelly just kicked her anyway.

9. IN THE WWE TITLE MATCH:

- a) Cena made a dramatic entrance with a crew of hip-hop dancers.
- b) Batista hit Cena with the Batista Bomb and pinned him for the win.
- c) Cena locked in the STF and Batista eventually tapped out.

10. IN THE STREAK VS CAREER MATCH:

- a) HBK mocked Taker by doing his kneeling to praise the gods thing.
- b) Taker Tombstoned HBK and pinned him for the win.
- c) Taker crashed HBK through the announce table.

World's Largest Diamond GOLDEN JUBILEE

The Golden Jubilee is the world's largest faceted diamond, with a weight of 545.67 carats. This gigantic gem got its name when it was presented to the king of Thailand in 1997 for the Golden Jubilee—or 50th anniversary celebration—of his reign. The diamond weighed 755.5 carats when it was discovered in a South African mine in 1986. Once it was cut, the diamond featured 148 perfectly symmetrical facets. The process took almost a year because of the diamond's size and multiple tension points. The diamond is on display at the Royal Museum of Bangkok in Thailand.

World's Tallest Mountain

MOUNT EVEREST

Mount Everest's tallest peak towers 8,850 metres into the air, and it is the highest point on Earth. This peak is an unbelievable 8.8 kilometres above sea level. Mount

Everest is located in the Himalayas, on the border between Nepal and Tibet. The mountain got its official name from surveyor Sir George Everest. In 1953, Sir Edmund Hillary and Tenzing Norgay were the first people to reach the peak. In 2008, the Olympic torch was carried up to the top of the mountain on its way to the games in Beijing.

World's Tallest Volcano

OJOS DEL SALADO

Located on the border between Argentina and Chile, Ojos del Salado towers 6,887 metres above the surrounding Atacama Desert. It is the second-highest peak in the Andean mountain chain. Ojos del Salado is a composite volcano, which means that it is a tall, symmetrical cone that was built by layers of lava flow, ash, and cinder.

There is no record of the volcano erupting, but this could be because of the volcano's remote location. Ojos del Salado is a very popular spot for mountain climbing.

World's Tallest Volcanoes

Height, in metres

World's Largest Lake

CASPIAN SEA

This giant inland body of salt water stretches for almost 1,207 kilometres from north to south, with an average width of about 322 kilometres. Altogether, it covers an area that's almost the same size as the US state of California. The Caspian Sea is located east of the Caucasus Mountains in central Asia. It is bordered by Iran, Russia, Kazakhstan, Azerbaijan, and Turkmenistan. The Caspian Sea has an average depth of about 170 metres. It is an important fishing resource, with species including sturgeon, salmon, perch, herring, and carp. Other animals living in the Caspian Sea include porpoises, seals, and tortoises. The sea is estimated to be 30 million years old and became landlocked 5.5 million years ago.

World's Largest Lakes

World's Largest Desert

SAHARA

Located in northern Africa, the Sahara Desert covers approximately 9.1 million square kilometres. It stretches for 8,372 kilometres through the countries of Morocco, Algeria, Tunisia, Libya, Egypt, Mauritania, Mali, Niger, Chad, and Sudan. The Sahara gets very little rainfall—less than 20 centimetres per year. Even with its harsh environment, some 2.5 million people—mostly nomads—call the Sahara home.

Date palms and acacias grow near oases. Some of the animals that live in the Sahara include gazelles, antelopes, jackals, foxes and badgers.

World's Largest Deserts

Area, in millions of square kilometres

World's Longest River

NILE

The Nile River in Africa stretches 6,671 kilometres from the tributaries of Lake Victoria in Tanzania and Uganda out to the Mediterranean Sea. Because of varying depths, boats can sail on only about 3,217 kilometres of the river. The Nile flows through Rwanda, Uganda, Sudan, and Egypt. The river's water supply is crucial to the existence of these African countries.

The Nile's precious water is used to irrigate crops and to generate electricity. The Aswan Dam and the Aswan High Dam—both located in Egypt—are used to store the autumn floodwater for later use. The Nile is also used to transport goods from city to city along the river.

World's Longest Rivers

Total length, in kilometres

World's Largest Ocean

PACIFIC

The Pacific Ocean covers almost 166 million square kilometres and reaches 11,000 metres below sea level at its greatest depth—the Mariana Trench (near the Philippines).

In fact, this ocean is so large that it covers about one-third of the planet (more than all of Earth's land put together) and holds more than half of all the seawater on Earth.

Australia could fit inside this ocean 18 times! Some of the major bodies of water included in the Pacific are the Bering Sea, the Coral Sea, the Philippine Sea, and the Gulf of Alaska.

World's Largest Oceans

World's Largest Island

GREENLAND

Located in the North Atlantic Ocean, Greenland covers more than 2,175,600 square kilometres. Not including continents, it is the largest island in the world. Its jagged coastline is approximately 39,267 kilometres long—about the same distance as Earth's circumference at the equator. Mountain chains are located on Greenland's east and west coasts, and the coastline is indented by fjords, or thin bodies of water bordered by steep cliffs. From north to south, the island stretches for about 2,670 kilometres. About 1,813,000 square kilometres of this massive island are covered by a giant ice sheet. The island also contains the world's largest national park—Northeast Greenland National Park—with an area of 972,000 square kilometres.

World's Largest Islands

Country with the Most Tropical Rainforests

BRAZIL

Brazil—a large, tropical country in South America—has almost 3.0 million square kilometres of rainforest. The tropical forests of the Amazon River are located in the northern and north central areas of the country. Amazonia, the world's largest rainforest, spreads across half of Brazil. The rainforest is home to 2.5 million species of insect, 500 mammal species, 300 reptile species, and a third of the world's birds. The rainforest is threatened, however, by timber companies, the growing human population, and ranchers clearing land for their herds to graze.

Country that Consumes the Most Coffee

FINLAND

Per capita consumption of coffee in Finland works out to about 1,500 cups of coffee per year, which is an average of more than 4 cups a day. It also means that this small European country brews up almost 1.9 billion litres of coffee annually. Most Finns prefer a strong brew and drink it without milk or sugar.

Finland's two main coffee companies are Paulig and Meira. Coffee is the second most valuable commodity in the world (behind oil) and generates about $70 billion annually.

Country that Drinks the Most Juice

CANADA

Canadians, on average, drink about 40.8 litres of fruit and vegetable juice each year. Kids ages 1 to 3 drink the highest percentage, with about 60 percent consuming juice every day. About 50 percent of kids 18 and under consume some type of juice at least once a day. In fact, kids and teens are three times more likely to choose juice over soft drinks. Canadian juice companies are continually introducing new flavours and products to meet the demand. More sophisticated juices are now marketed to the 18–24 age group, including wild citrus, summit berry, and orange carrot.

Countries that Drink the Most Juice

Country that Consumes the Most Ice Cream

AUSTRALIA

Each person in Australia eats about 15.0 litres of ice cream annually. That means the country demolishes more than 314.9 million litres each year. The country's favourite flavours are vanilla, chocolate, and strawberry.

Residents of New South Wales eat ice cream the most often—about 5.5 times a month—followed by residents of Queensland at 5.2 times a month. Each year, the Australian ice-cream market takes in approximately $391.4 million and employs about 1,100 people.

Countries that Consume the Most Ice Cream

Annual per capita consumption, in litres

Country that Eats the Most Chocolate

UNITED KINGDOM

On average, each citizen of the United Kingdom eat about 11.5 kilograms of chocolate annually. The UK enjoys a combined total of 707 million kilograms each year, which accounts for about 30 percent of the chocolate eaten in all of Europe. Bar chocolate, such as Snickers and a local Crunchie brand, accounts for about 45 percent of all sales. Dark chocolate sales have also increased recently due to reports that it is healthier than milk and white chocolate.

Countries that Eat the Most Chocolate

Annual per capita consumption, in kilograms

Country that Eats the Most Meat

NAURU

Each person in Nauru eats an average of 122 kilograms of meat annually. Nauru is a small island in the South Pacific, just north of the Solomon Islands. There are several different nationalities that make up the island's culture, including Chinese and Vietnamese, so the cooking methods and recipes are varied. Cured meats and smoked ham are very popular in traditional dishes. Canned meat is one of the most popular items in local grocery stores. The high meat consumption is unfortunately contributing to rising levels of obesity and diabetes.

WE GET OUR HANDS ON SOME RATHER HANDY INFORMATION ABOUT HANDHELDS

3DS WATCH

If you haven't already heard, the most exciting event of 2011 will be the launch of Nintendo's new handheld, the 3DS. This device is truly amazing. Its super awesome mega feature is that it allows you to play games in 3D without wearing glasses. It does this by putting the material that is usually on the glasses over the screen, making the 3D effect before it gets to your face. It works a treat, but that is just the start. The handheld also has a 3D camera, that allows you to take photos of your friends or the world around you in 3D. When you scroll them they pop out of the screen at you: it's fun to try things like sticking your tongue out just to get a laugh. Naturally the 3DS is also more powerful for better graphics, has better and brighter screens, plus it will still be touch sensitive and read your movements (like tilting). This thing is going to rule! An official release date has yet to be announced, but we know that it is coming sometime in March. We will be following it all the way through to launch. Nintendo are holding a big press conference shortly, and they will be showing off a lot of the games expected to be available around the launch of the handheld. Check out the list below and starting working on your chores so you can get in your mum and dad's good books!

The following titles are being shown off at the Nintendo 3DS press conference ahead of the handheld's launch:

- Metal Gear Solid: Snake Eater 3D
- Pro Evolution Soccer 3D
- Super Street Fighter IV 3D Edition
- Resident Evil Revelations
- Samurai Warriors Chronicle
- Dead or Alive Dimensions
- Ridge Racer 3D
- Professor Layton and the Miracle Mask
- Nintendogs + Cats
- Kid Icarus Uprising
- The Legend of Zelda: Ocarina of Time 3DS
- Steel Diver
- Pilot Wings Resort
- Resident Evil: The Mercenaries 3D
- Super Monkey Ball 3D
- Kingdom Hearts 3D
- Mobile Suit Gundam: The 3D Battle
- Tales of the Abyss
- One Piece Unlimited Cruise SP
- Cubic Ninja
- Tobidasu! Bust-a-Move 3D
- Pro Baseball Family Stadium 2011
- Animal Resort
- Xevious 3DS
- 3D Beauty Clock
- Star Fox 64 3D
- Paper Mario
- Animal Crossing 3DS
- Mario Kart 3DS
- Mii Plaza

NINTENDO 3DS

LORD OF ARCANIA

■ PSVITA PSP

In the world of Horodyn, at the edge of a village surrounded by a lush forest lies a powerful stone known as Arcana. The power in the stone and three more just like it are the source of the world's order, but it can only be handled by someone with equal power. And so it is that Slayers from around the world fight all kinds of mythical monsters and beasts in order to prove they have enough power. You play one of these Slayers, and in this cool Action RPG from the same minds behind Final Fantasy, you must seek out the four stones in order to heal a broken world. The coolest thing is that you can team-up with three other friends to take on the beasts in co-op. Combat is fast and frantic and there are some interesting monsters to hunt down. Definitely worth a look if you have some friends to play with.

MARIO VS. DONKEY KONG: MINI-LAND MAYHEM!

■ Wii DS

Mario just can't stay out of trouble, can he? There he is opening the new Mini-Land amusement park when Donkey Kong kidnaps his girlfriend... again. The legendary hero then sets off to rescue her using the mini-Mario toys. As you travel through the eight different worlds in Mini-Land, you need to guide the mini-Marios from one side of the level to the other safely. At first you are only given basic tools to do this - like red platforms - but as you progress you get more gadgets like ladders, warp pipes and conveyor belts. You only have limited resources, so working out the quickest and easiest way to get the mini-Marios through the level becomes the challenge, especially as the mini-Marios never stop moving. But it is so much fun, and with lots of things to collect, over 200 levels, bonus modes and a Construction Zone, where you can build your own maps, there is stacks to do. Check it out!

HARVEST MOON: SUNSHINE ISLANDS

■ DS

The beautiful Sunshine Islands have been torn apart by an earthquake, causing much of them to sink beneath the ocean. It is up to you to rebuild them by harvesting the 100 sun stones, which will raise the islands to their former glory. Like the other games in the Harvest Moon series, this is a bright, colourful and extremely quirky farm simulator. The day in the game is the same as a day in real-life, and you need to try and accomplish as much as you can in that time. That includes growing crops, looking after your farm animals, talking to the other inhabitants in the world and even starting a family. The controls have been improved over the previous versions, allowing more flexibility, but the gameplay remains largely the same. Worth a look for those who enjoy building and managing worlds.

THE BIG QUESTION

WE TACKLE THE BIG QUESTIONS IN GAMING

IS IT TIME FOR THE WII 2?

Everyone has been amazed by the success of the Nintendo Wii. It has sold an astonishing 84 million units at the time of writing, and it's still going up. Even though it came out a year after the Xbox 360 it has sold over 35 million more units than Microsoft's machine. And despite it coming out at the same time as the PlayStation 3, it has sold over 40 million more units than that console. It has, by a long way, been the winner of this generation. But is it time for Nintendo to release the Wii 2? Despite the fact that the Nintendo Wii has sold so well recently, things have slowed down. Back when it came out, it wowed everybody with the wicked motion-based controls. Plus, because it didn't have the best graphics or a Blu-ray player it was a lot cheaper to buy than the Xbox 360 or the PlayStation 3. In addition, you didn't need a super expensive TV and surround sound system to make the most of it. For all these reasons combined - and, of course, the wicked range of Nintendo exclusives like Mario and Pokemon - the Nintendo Wii was super popular. However, nowadays those benefits are no longer around. The price of TVs, surround sound systems and the consoles from Sony and Microsoft have all become a lot more affordable. This means you can get a lot better graphics, sound and technology for around the same price. The range of games coming out for the Nintendo Wii has started to get smaller too. Plus, people are really getting into things like online gaming and Blu-ray movies. However, the biggest thing is that the Wii is no longer the only console with motion-based gaming. Nowadays you can get an even better experience on the PS3 with the PlayStation Move controller, or a totally crazy futuristic option on Xbox 360 with Kinect. The Nintendo Wii has totally lost its edge to its competitors. So how can the mighty Nintendo get back on top?

They can listen to GameSta and release the Wii 2. They can start a whole new generation of gaming with even better graphics and sound, new motion-based gaming technology, full online support and lots more. A whole step above what is being offered by the other consoles. Wouldn't that be wicked! Are you listening, Nintendo? The Krash Heads expect an announcement soon - don't make us get angry!

DID YOU KNOW

The new Nintendo handheld, the 3DS, is coming out in March. Maybe the company is waiting for that to come out before they announce the Wii 2.

FRESH PICS

We take a look at the killer images from the hottest games coming your way in 2011.

UNCHARTED 3: DRAKE'S DECEPTION

Make no mistake, the Uncharted series on the PlayStation 3 is the best video game experience you can get. With visuals as good as any movie, amazing characters and fantastic gameplay that blends shooting, exploration and platforming it is impossible to resist. What you see here is the first shot from the third game in the series which is coming out closer to Christmas. Unlike the first game (jungle) and second game (snow), this third outing is set in the desert. It begins when our hero Nathan Drake crash lands in the middle of nowhere as he hunts more treasure. We can't wait!

SSX: DEADLY DESCENTS

With its whacky, rollercoaster-like tracks and super crazy jumps where you could pull off stacks of tricks, the SSX series has always been about big dumb fun. However, after dropping off the radar for a few years, the series is coming back and it is a lot more serious. This is the first screenshot, and it shows off the gritty new look. Gamers will be tasked with mastering nine of the deadliest mountains in the world, all while another rival team of snowboarders tries to beat you to it. We're not sure what to expect, but we're certainly excited.

TOMB RAIDER

The legendary Lara Croft has been ruling the adventure genre since the mid-nineties, but in recent years she has been losing her edge. The gameplay has been getting a little tired, and her image has been hurt. So the developer of the game is totally giving it a reboot. She has an all new look, and it's far more rugged than we're used to. It's like she lost a fight with a lawnmower. When the game begins, Lara wakes up on an island filled with wreckage and close to death. The local inhabitants try and hunt her down, and she must survive, wounded, until she can work out what is going on. In this early screenshot we get a glimpse of the island.

KICK YOUR DEVELOPERS

Names like Mario and Sonic the Hedgehog may be instantly familiar to gamers, but they're not the real stars of the industry. Instead, it is the game developers: the people who make the characters from their own imaginations. Think of them like the director of a film... they may not be the big star, but they're the ones that put everything together and make it fun. Thankfully, GameStar has found out all the details on the hottest developers in gaming for you!

STAR WARS THE FORCE UNLEASHED

The Star Wars® Saga continues with Star Wars: The Force Unleashed II, the highly anticipated sequel to the fastest-selling Star Wars game ever created, which has sold more than seven million copies worldwide!

In Star Wars: The Force Unleashed, the world was introduced to Darth Vader's now fugitive apprentice, Starkiller—the unlikely hero who would ignite the flames of rebellion in a galaxy so desperately in need of a champion. In the sequel, Starkiller returns with over-the-top Force powers and embarks on a journey to discover his own identity and to reunite with his one true love, Juno Eclipse. In Star Wars: The Force Unleashed II, Starkiller is once again under the control of Darth Vader—but instead of training his protégée as a ruthless assassin, the dark lord is attempting to clone his former apprentice in an attempt to create the Ultimate Sith warrior.

KIRBY'S EPIC YARN

Wii

Kirby really isn't the most attractive hero in gaming. He is little more than a pink blob really, with silly little legs sticking out from underneath him  it wasn't for the little face on the front you'd totally be forgiven for popping him in your hot chocolate and eating him like a marshmallow. Despite this, however, Kirby has been peeling off fantastic platform adventure games for over a decade. His latest, Epic Yarn, could be the best yet!

As usual the story is as fluffy and silly as its star. Kirby is happily skipping through Dream Land one day when he spots a weird tomato and eats it. Unluckily, the tomato was owned by an evil wizard named Yin-Yarn who decides to suck the Kirby into a magic sock. This transports Kirby to Patch Land, where everything is made out of yarn (which is basically string). This removes all of Kirby's usual powers, but gives him the ability to change into any shape he wants. Which is sure to help as he sets out to find the 7 pieces of magic yarn stolen by the evil wizard, so he can get a new magic sock that will get him back to Dream Land.

See, we told you it was weird!  Kirby's Epic Yarn can be weird, especially in a land where everything is made out of string. This string world is played as a 2D side-scrolling platformer and it looks extremely bright and pretty. There are lots of things to discover as you make it through each level, and lots of inventive ways of using the string based world to your advantage. For example, Kirby can use his whip to latch onto buttons that are in the world and then use this to swing higher.

But it is Kirby's ability to easily change into different shapes which rules. There are so many fun and quirky things that Kirby can change into and it is a lot of fun just trying them out. There are simple things like changing into a penguin to glide over long distances, or turning into a car to get extra speed. Then there are some whackier sections where you may become a UFO, a dolphin, a tank or even a surfing penguin. The controls are simple to master, with you holding the Wii-mote side on and playing it like an old-school game. Plus a friend can join in the action, playing as the prince - called Fluff - with co-op moves for you to try out. So while Kirby may be a weird looking dude, yet again he proves that he can make a rad game.

DID YOU KNOW?

Despite his harmless looking body shape, Kirby packs a big bunch and is GameSta's favourite Super Smash Bros. character.

TEST DRIVE UNLIMITED 2

Wii, DS

There are three types of racing experiences out there. There are the arcade racers where you don't have to think too much about car physics and having the right tyres on, allowing you to just rip around the tracks and have fun. Then there are the hardcore simulations where you have to spend more time in the garage tinkering with your four-wheeled beast than you actually do on the track. Finally, you have online racing, where you take away the AI and go at it against other humans.

The Test Drive Unlimited games are a rad combination of all three. For starters, it is set in a real world location that is an accurate simulation of all the streets, locations and geography of the place on which it is based. Plus, it is filled with the coolest and slickest cars from around the world that all handle in unique ways. But then, instead of racing around a sterile track, you have all these fun kind of arcade-like activities like racing from point-to-point, making your own path, and playing tag with other racers. The icing on the top is that it happens in a world that is always online, and other human drivers are constantly driving past you and you can test your skills against them.

This sequel keeps everything intact and then ramps it up to wicked levels. Instead of one island, we now have two to enjoy - Ibiza (from the coast of Spain) and Oahu (an island from Hawaii), both accurately recreated using satellite imagery. This works out to 3000kms of roads, about two-thirds of which are asphalt and the rest off-road. The graphics are amazing: the world looks super realistic and has now been improved with a 24hr day-night cycle and dynamic weather - so cool! Despite the fact that most of the game has you driving in various challenges to earn money - which you then use to buy better cars - there is actually a bit of a story in this sequel. You have 60 levels to bring your character through by earning experience through Competition (in races and so forth), Social (making friends online and joining car clubs), Discovery (exploring new areas of the world) and Collection (buying new cars and houses). This gives you so much to do, you'll be playing forever.

DID YOU KNOW?

On the two islands in Test Drive there are houses, which you can buy so there is a place to store your cars. You can personalise these by buying new furniture, or clothes for your character.

GAMESTA VERDICT: A UNIQUE RACING GAME

MARIO SPORTS MIX

Wii

If you think that Mario is just a platform hero who goes about his day rescuing damsels in distress, think again. This, the most heroic hero of herodom, is also a master of the sporting field. Not content to master soccer, golf, tennis and the entire Winter and Summer Olympics, this game throws in five all new sports on the same disc. They are volleyball, ice hockey, field hockey, dodgeball and basketball. The game features really simple controls that anyone can pick up and play, online and offline multiplayer (which is definitely the best way to play it, with friends) and all the usual characters from the Mushroom Kingdom. Plus, as we have come to expect from the Mario sport games, the action is honed up with top-notch gameplay.

scary fields and arenas and some really fun power-ups. It is not the deepest of gaming experience and with only a handful of sports some might get bored after a while, but if you have liked the previous Mario sports games this is definitely worth a crack.

DID YOU KNOW?

If you don't want to play as one of your heroes in Mario Sports Mix, you can choose to use your Mii characters.

HARVEST MOON: ANIMAL PARADE

Wii

Long-time Gamesta readers would have read about the odd Harvest Moon series in new times in our Adventure pages - there's even a DK game out this month! This quirky farm simulation mixes cute graphics and deeply addictive gameplay in a way that no other Harvest Moon series quite can. In Animal Parade the land is suffering. The Harvest King has disappeared, and as such the village you're in is dying and the creatures are beginning to leave the land. You must find a way of getting the five bells to ring in order to have the Harvest King back so he can right this wrong. This involves herding your team to the best of your ability, managing the animals and planting the right crops. You also need to form relationships with other citizens, even finding a wife and having a child. This game sets itself apart from other in the series by allowing you to use the motion-based controls to replicate the actions of items like an axe, shovel or fishing pole, which is cool, but this isn't enough to change the feeling of action fans: this remains a title for the patient thinking gamers.

GAMESTA HEAT: 800

GAMESTA VERDICT: FARM FOR FUN

DE BLOB 2

Wii, PS3, 360, DS

When the whacky Wii controls work, they make for some awesome games. The de Blob series had simple, but really innovative gaming that came with a rad idea. You control a blob of paint, and you need to roll around the world to find different colours that could be used to bring life back to the world. Splattering yourself against walls to make patterns, and attacking enemies was mad fun. This sequel follows on two years after the previous games in Prisma City. The evil Commander Black has rigged the election and become mayor, and he and his Inkies have turned everything to drab black and white. You, and your Colour Underground mates, need to restore the world to its former glory. The controls, graphics and gameplay remain just as fun as the original, but the gameplay has been jazzed up with new power-ups, moves and upgrades that you can purchase. You can also now go inside the buildings, where the action changes to 2D, which is super cool. Lastly, finishing off a great sequel, there is a two-player mode and versions for the other consoles – colour me happy!

DID YOU KNOW?

The de Blob series is made in Melbourne Australia by a developer called Blue Tongue Entertainment – Aussie! Aussie!

GAMESTA HEAT

GAMESTA VERDICT

COLOURFULLY COOL

MARVEL VS. CAPCOM 3: FATE OF TWO WORLDS

360, PS3

Fighting games don't get any cooler than this – the legendary superheroes from the Marvel comic universe team up with the famous fighters from the whole range of Capcom games. It is no surprise that this game is double the awesome. The game features a simplified control system that makes it a lot easier for you to get into the swing, but still includes a host of special moves for you to master as you go. One of the key features that sets this game apart is the big screen. Before a fight you can pick three characters and then tap them to switch into the action at any point. This is innovative as you can choose up to three complete and independent fighters to keep out of the way of a big attack in an instant. The graphics are awfully good with the 3D models and excellent special move effects that light up the screen with a range of colors.

Hyper Combos (they're the best) add a massive variety of over 40 characters and unlock many, and you have a perfect blend of fun and action.

GAMESTA HEAT

GAMESTA VERDICT

DOUBLY AWESOME

THE CONDUIT 2

Wii

There are a few points which go really well with the Nintendo Wii. Adventures, Platformers and Party games stand out. First-Person Shooters do not. The only real success stories have been Metroid Prime 3, and a little known game called The Conduit, which now gets a sequel. The action looks off-right after the last game, with our hero Michael Ford walking up on an oil rig in the middle of this down-jawed alien invasion attack. After you beat this monstrosity, you get access to an alien ship that you have to travel all around the world as you continue to fight for humanity against the invading ETs. There are a range of controls schemes here to try, including Wii MotionPlus for orientation, aiming, or the addition of the Classic Controller Pro. We really like the improvements to the game, including more variation in the levels (like different sequences), better multi-player, cutscenes and online multiplayer, a smarter enemy AI and a Soundplay or on-off mode. It may not be quite as slick as the FPS games on 360 and PS3, but game fans will still enjoy it...

GAMESTA HEAT:

GAMESTA VERDICT: GO FIRST-PERSON

UDRAW STUDIO

Wii

This one's really not for all of the 'tatty old' (they think of themselves) bunch. The uDraw peripheral is aimed at the young at heart, and that means plenty of fun and most of it for you to move your Wii remote. The controller provides pressure, position and feedback to Java while you move to get through the game. It's simple and easy to use, using the very cool Kinect sensor. There is a stylus attached to the uDraw controller that allows you to draw patterns on its surface, which appear on the TV screen. The uDraw studio game (free), comes with the peripheral, ten stacks of blocks and styles. So you'll have between two and 10 blocks between you and the massive castle – you can choose different things like a pen, a crayon or a honey wand before the finished end colour... something to be in awe of.

an addictive art studio in your hands, without any of the mess (and your parents' aiding at your disposal). There are over 10 different surfaces to paint on (the ones likely you'll be using) with themes like Monarchs, Wedding and an Art Fair so you can just unleash your creativity. It's pretty sensible!

DID YOU KNOW?

Other games are being made that will make use of the uDraw peripheral, such as a game based on Pictionary and a party game called Doodz Big Adventure

Q: What do you do if your nose goes on strike?
A: Picket.

Q: What's another word for tears?
A: Glumdrops.

Q: What stays hot in the fridge?
A: Mustard.

Q: What do you call a single vampire?
A: A bat-chelor!

Q: What do you call a dinosaur that's a noisy sleeper?
A: Brontosnorus.

Q: How can you tell when a moth farts?
A: He flies straight for a second.

Q: Why is the sky so high?
A: So birds don't bump their heads.

Q: What did the tie say to the hat?
A: "You go on ahead, I'll just hang around."

Q: Who is the best dancer at a monster party?

NRL 2011

As the NRL prepares to launch another massive season, Krash gazes into our crystal ball to predict the top eight teams of 2011.

8. SOUTH SYDNEY RABBITOHS

While they failed to live up the hype last season, Russell Crowe's Rabbitohs welcome star centre Greg Inglis to the fold this year which could provide the attacking spark they need to match their monster forward pack.

7. GOLD COAST TITANS

While they were one of the most impressive teams of season 2010, big question marks surround the Titans this year following the retirement of champion playmaker Mat Rogers. Much will rest on how the ageing Preston Campbell handles the extra playmaking responsibility.

6. CANBERRA RAIDERS

The Raiders didn't really hit their stride till mid-way through last year, but if they can hit similar form at the beginning of the 2011 season, anything is possible. When playmaker Terry Campese is on song they appear almost unbeatable, and fullback Josh Dugan is terrifyingly quick at the back.

5. MELBOURNE STORM

Despite being stripped of their points last season, the Storm remained super competitive. They have plenty to prove this year, and while the loss of Greg Inglis will impact their dominance out wide, our money is nonetheless on them to be around come finals time.

4. PENRITH PANTHERS

A poor semi finals performance was far from a fitting way to cap what was a brilliant 2010 season for the club. But they'll be better for the experience this year and retain cool-headed veterans Luke Lewis and Petero Civoniceva, along with young speedsters Michael Jennings and Michael Gordon.

STAL BALL: OPTION

3. WESTS TIGERS

They were incredibly unlucky to lose to the eventual premiers by just one point in last year's semi finals, but 2011 could definitely be year of the tiger. They retain all their major stars, including Robbie Farrah, Benji Marshall and Lote Tuqiri, and field perhaps the most balanced squad in the NRL.

2. ST. GEORGE DRAGONS

Last year's premiers looked untouchable for most of 2010, and defied the 'chokers' tag to post strong finals performances. This season, international centre Mark Gasnier will no doubt benefit from a pre-season at the club. Injuries after a busy off-season may be the only thing capable of stopping them.

1. SYDNEY ROOSTERS

They say you have to lose one to win one, and it's hard not to see last year's losing grand finalists going one step further this season. Captain Braith Anasta is in career-best form, playmaker Todd Carney will benefit from a more stable pre-season preparation with halves partner Mitchell Pearce, and veteran hooker Mark Riddell is a strong signing for the club.

TRADING POST

Keep track of all your favourite players as they line up for their new clubs this season.

- Willie Mason leaves the struggling North Queensland Cowboys to play in England.
- Brisbane Bronco flyer Israel Folau leaves rugby league to make his AFL debut.
- Auckland Warriors veteran centre Brent Tate lines up for the North Queensland Cowboys.
- Queensland enforcer Carl Webb moves south to join the Parramatta Eels.
- Star Melbourne Storm centre Greg Inglis becomes a South Sydney Rabbitoh.
- South Sydney Rabbitohs centre Beau Champion flies south to Melbourne Storm.
- Mark Riddell returns home from the UK to join the Sydney Roosters.
- Sharks forward Adam Cuthbertson moves to arch rivals, the St. George Dragons.
- Gold Coast Titans star playmaker Mat Rogers hangs up his boots.
- Young Wade Graham replaces retiring captain Trent Barrett at the Cronulla Sharks.

KRASH RAIDS THE AFL LOCKER ROOM UP FRONT

WESTERN BULLDOGS

NAME: BARRY HALL

CLUB: Western Bulldogs

STYLE: This former Sydney Swans hard-man rediscovered his form last season after some embarrassing on-field brain snaps in his past. No one is better at the goal face than big bad Barry.

NAME: ALAN DIDAK

CLUB: Collingwood

STYLE: This versatile midfield and forward utility was a major weapon in his club's successful premiership campaign last year. It will be interesting to see how he bounces back from off-season shoulder surgery.

IN THE MIDFIELD

HAWKS

NAME: LANCE FRANKLIN

CLUB: Hawthorn

STYLE: This gentle giant is dangerous from anywhere on the field. Whether he's in the midfield, on the wing or at centre-half forward, his next stunning long-range goal is never far away.

SUNS

NAME: GARY ALEXANDER

CLUB: Gold Coast Suns

STYLE: The league's golden-haired boy moves to new club, the Gold Coast Suns, this season as their marquee player. They'll benefit from his absolute dominance in the midfield and his ability to draw a crowd.

HAWKS

NAME: CLIVE HODGE

CLUB: Hawthorn

STYLE: This hard-nosed midfielder will be stepping up to captain the Hawks this season, and for good reason. The 26-year-old has developed into a cool-headed player capable of turning a match.

ST K.F.C.
ST KILDA

NAME: LUCA MONTAGNA

CLUB: St. Kilda

STYLE: This hard-running midfielder just keeps getting better and better. He is deadly accurate with the boot and is perhaps the league's strongest tackler which makes him a mighty force in the ruck.

KRASH

TO PICK OUR DREAM TEAM FOR 2011.
AT THE BACK

NAME: COREY ENRIGHT

CLUB: Geelong

STYLE: With Gary Ablett heading to the Gold Coast Suns, this talented defender will be carrying more responsibility at the Cats this season. But that should be just fine with Geelong fans – he is a superstar.

NAME: BRIAN LAKE

CLUB: Western Bulldogs

STYLE: Already the finest full-back in the game, rumour has it that Lake has dropped six kilos in the off season and is fitter than ever after off-season knee surgery. We're expecting to see an even more mobile player in 2011.

RISING SUNS

The Gold Coast Suns make their AFL debut this season, and their success will come down to just two words – Gary Ablett. The future of the club was practically assured as soon as they scored the Geelong superstar's signature. Already considered one of the game's greatest players, the Suns' stadium will be from here on known as 'the house Ablett built'. Also joining the Suns is former rugby league great Karmichael Hunt. There is plenty of interest in how he'll make the transition from the raw power of rugby league to the speed and mobility required in AFL.

THE GIANTS ARE COMING

The Greater Western Sydney Giants are busy preparing for their AFL debut in 2012, and you know things will be well at Sydney's new club under the watch of legendary AFL coach Kevin Sheedy. All eyes will be on the club's star recruit Israel Folau. At just 21 years old he already rose to the top of the ranks in rugby league and will now put his strength and athleticism to the ultimate test with this move to AFL.

KRASH TEST

EZY STREET

THE EZYROLLER WON 'TOY OF THE YEAR' IN AMERICA LAST YEAR, AND NOW IT HAS FINALLY LANDED IN AUSTRALIA!

The EzyRoller is a billy cart, scooter and bike all rolled into one lean, mean, driving machine. It has the raw speed of a billy cart, all the mobility of a scooter, and the fine steering of a bike.

NO MORE PEDALS

Unlike a bike, however, you don't need to bust your gut pedaling. Easy left-right movements of your feet and legs propel the EzyRoller forward in a smooth, gliding momentum.

The EzyRoller is made of stern stuff. Its heavy duty steel fork means it can withstand plenty of bumps and bruises as you put it through its paces and bust out a trick or two.

Animator

Krash: What is Adventure Time? Where did the concept originate from?

Pendleton: I drew Finn and Jake for the first time in an old sketch book. When I was thinking about ideas to pitch as a pilot, I would flip through my sketchbooks and find characters that I liked and then create stories around them.

Krash: For those of us that haven't yet seen the show, what can you tell us about Jake and Finn?

Finn is a little spitfire who's full of righteous energy. Finn has a strong moral code and he's eager to protect good and kick evil in the buns. Jake is a laaazy dog with the power to stretch and grow into almost any size and shape. Jake has all the wisdom of a 28 year old couch-potato. Finn and Jake like playing video games and going on adventures across the land of Ooo.

Krash: Why do you think Adventure Time resonates so well with viewers?

Pendleton: We try to make the show funny, weird and charming. They are goofball cartoon characters in a fantasy world but we try to keep a sense of realism in how the characters feel and react to their world. I think that leaves the audience open to enjoy all the silly characters while also feeling empathy for the characters when they get emotional.

Krash: How does an episode of Adventure Time come about? Where does your inspiration come from?

Sometimes we play writing games where we fold a paper so that is has 4 creases and in the first crease we sketch a stupid drawing, the paper gets passed around in a circle so that on each pass someone writes the 1st, 2nd or 3rd act of the story. We do a lot of these and come up with a lot of quick goofball ideas.

Krash: Tell us more about the visual style of Adventure Time.

One of our background designers, Ghostshrimp, really set the drawing style for the world of Adventure Time. His illustrations always feel full of history and radical-power. Nick Jennings, Art Director for Adventure Time, sets the mood for every show with his awesome and breathtaking color schemes. Every board artist draws Finn and Jake differently and I like the feeling that has on the show, it makes for looser drawings and animation, which I enjoy.

Over here at Krash we reckon we have pretty awesome jobs, but you know what job would be even cooler? Being an animator for a show on Cartoon Network! We chat to Pendleton Ward, creator of Adventure Time, about having (possibly) the coolest job in the universe!

Krash: Quirky humour plays a big part in the show. How do you come up with the many scenarios and characters that Jake and Finn encounter?

Pendleton: Dungeons and Dragons is a big inspiration for what sorts of monsters and pitfalls exist in Ooo. We try to keep the monsters native to the terrain they exist in.

Krash: Will we see Jake and Finn evolve over the course of the series?

Pendleton: Yeah, every episode develops the characters a little more. Every board artist puts their own personality into the characters and once a personality tic or piece of slang catches on then everyone expands on it. Princess Bubblegum has ended up being the character that's been pulled the most in every direction. She might be de-evolving back into a gum-wad.

Krash: The environments play almost a big a role as the characters. What can you tell us about the importance and inspiration behind Candy Kingdom, the Land of Oo, the Ice Kingdom and Lumpy Space?

Pendleton: Well...like I mentioned above, in the backgrounds there is usually a sense of history...they feel overgrown or treaded upon or there are elements in the backgrounds like a skeleton holding a book – and there's a story there that you have to makeup.

Krash: Who is your favourite character in the series and why?

Pendleton: I like Marceline. She's a thousand year old vampire babe. I like that she's still mysterious. I don't know everything about her so it'll be fun to figure out some of her history as the series keeps creeping on.

Krash: What are the best ways for kids to generate ideas for cartoons and storylines to get their creative juices flowing?

Pendleton: Just carry a pocket-sized sketchbook with you and doodle everything that comes to mind. Or doodle people and how they interact with each other.

I was always super analytical as a kid. I'd take notes on what people (girls) liked and didn't like and what made them laugh. I was also a super nerd/geek/turbo-dork. Maybe just spend your time trying to draw dogs and their crazy faces. Dogs have the craziest faces, man. I guess I'm just thinking about Pugs. Man...pugs...man.

Krash: You have some amazing guest stars voicing the show, including George Takei, Tom Kenny and Dee Bradley Baker? What's it like having such cool personalities voicing your characters?

It's awesome! Tom Kenny is amazing. I will never be able to stop saying how awesome Tom Kenny is and how important his role is on the show. Tom is brilliant. I enjoy having actors and comedians who enjoy improvisation on the show. And hiring celebrities is the most fun and easiest perk for me on the show. Getting to hire George Takei, Michael Dorn, Brian Posehn, Maria Bamford, Lou Ferigno, Biz Markie, Paul Reubens, Mark Hamill, Clancy Brown, Peter Stormare, Henry Rollins, Erik Estrada, Stephen Root... it's awesome man!

Krash: What other work have you done that we might know?

Pendleton: I worked on the first season of The Marvelous Misadventures of Flapjack as a storyboard artist/writer for a year.

Krash: What can we expect to see down the track for Finn and Jake?

Finn and Jake exploring deeper into the land of Ooo; discovering more strange and magical places; more interactions between Marceline and Bubblegum – the show is in a really good place. I think it's just going to keep getting better.

FREAK

IS THE ANIMAL KINGDOM WEIRD OR WHAT?! THESE STRANGE-BUT-TRUE FACTS FREAKED US OUT.

ANIMAL ANTICS

A 50c COIN IS HEAVIER THAN A HUMMINGBIRD.

HIP-POO ROMANCE

If you think the whole 'boy meets girl' thing is weird, wait till you hear a hippo's idea of dating. A hippo who has a crush on another hippo will pee and poo at the same time, then twirl its tail like a propeller to spread this delicious slop in every direction. In hippo speak, this is like your dad buying your mum flowers or chocolates. Go figure!

LYRE LIAR

Ever seen a lyrebird? Never? Liar! Pull out a 10-cent coin and look on the back – that's a lyrebird. Now you might think I'm fibbing, but I swear this is true... Lyrebirds can mimic all sorts of bird and human sounds, even things like car alarms, chainsaws and cameras. Don't believe me. Check it out on YouTube.

FLEAS CAN JUMP UP TO 30CM, 200 TIMES THEIR OWN BODY LENGTH.

SECOND SKIN

How freaky is it that animals like snakes, spiders and frogs shed their skins to grow? It's called 'moulting' and it's not so bad when your cat does it, because that's just hair. It's when, say, a cicada does it, that it's freaky. If you've ever been chased by someone with a cicada shell you'll know what I mean! But did you know we humans 'moult' too? Look at your hairbrush if you want the evidence. It's just that we moult slowly over time, so you don't notice it like when snakes shed their skin all at once.

VULTURES SOMETIMES EAT SO MUCH THEY CAN'T TAKE OFF AGAIN.

A CROCODILE CAN'T STICK ITS TONGUE OUT OF ITS MOUTH.

Out

A HOUSEFLY GROWS UP THE FOOD IT EATS AND THEN EATS IT AGAIN.

BLUEBOTTLE FLIES CAN SMELL MEAT FROM 7KM AWAY.

THE SLEPIEST MAMMALS ARE ARMADILLOS, SLOTHS AND POSSUMS. THEY SPEND 80 PER CENT OF THEIR LIVES SLEEPING OR DOZING.

SNAKES CAN SEE THROUGH THEIR EYELIDS.

COWABUNGA!

Emus and kangaroos can't walk backwards. And if you think that's weird, cows can walk upstairs but not downstairs. How this was discovered beats me but some of the theories about why go like this:

- Their knees don't bend the right way.
- They are too fat.
- They're afraid they might roll down the stairs.

Some people claim cows can walk downstairs and that the rumour isn't true. If anyone puts this to the test, let us know!

EYES ON YOU... AND YOU...

The chameleon can focus its eyes separately to watch two objects at once. Now if that doesn't sound impressive, think of it like this: If you had eyes like a chameleon:

You wouldn't get in trouble for not paying attention in class because you could keep one eye on the teacher and the other on your mate.

You could pull off a bad trick while watching everyone's reaction - one eye on your bike/skateboard and the other on the crowd.

You could play Xbox and watch TV at the same time. Now imagine you can do all that AND change colour to blend into your surroundings!

BLAME IT ON THE BOOGIE

How do you know when a ferret is super excited? It does a 'war dance' - a bunch of crazy sideways hops. And if it's super-duper excited? It arches its back, frizzes its tail and makes hissing as well. The war dance usually follows play or the successful capture of a toy or stolen object. We don't recommend taking this approach next time your fave TV show comes on.

ELEPHANTS SPEND 23 HOURS A DAY EATING.

SOME ANIMALS CAN REGROW PARTS OF THEIR BODIES IF DAMAGED. STARFISH CAN GROW NEW 'ARMS'. LIZARDS CAN GROW NEW TAILS.

RUN, JUM

This is the basics. Lots and lots of practice. The faster you

STEP 1.

Think about the trick you're about to do. Plan it in your mind. Visualise it. How fast will you need to run to get the speed you need to do your trick in the little space you have?

STEP 2.

Hold the board from the nose. If you are Goofy stance hold the board with your right hand.

POP & PUSH

You can push the further you'll travel and the more fun it is.

STEP 3:

Start running! As you run, bend down and have the back wheels on the ground rolling. Keep holding onto the nose of your board.

STEP 4:

Let go of the board with your hand and throw it a little forward in front of you so that your right leg can step onto the front of the board and straight into pushing mode.

STEP 5:

Make sure you put your front foot, which automatically becomes your steering foot directly in the centre of the board, otherwise the board will turn away from you as soon as you get on.

Push! Like there's no tomorrow, fly like the wind and pull off that trick. Congratulations!

I am a serious sleepwalker and my whole family gets a laugh out of it. One morning I got up super early in my sleep just as my sister was leaving for school. I walked out of my bedroom and she said hi but I didn't answer because I was sleeping, so she followed me calling out my name. But instead of answering I moved straight to the kitchen, opened the bin and pulled my pants down. When I woke up my sister was yelling "what are you doing?!" I was standing up, pants around my ankles, peeing into the bin! I was super sooooo embarrassed and I ran straight to the bathroom. My family will never let me live that down :P Heath
